

NATIONAL MEETING 2014

9 October 2014
10:00 - 16:30
Royal Armouries Museum
Leeds
Registration: FREE

The Colorectal Therapies Healthcare Technology Co-operative is a national forum for the development of technologies and minimally invasive therapies in colorectal disease. Join us at our interactive National Meeting to develop solutions to real clinical and patient problems.

Can your creativity change lives?

Discuss your ideas with potential new collaborators and experts in the sector as well as learn about prospective funding opportunities.

Focused Networking Workshops will allow you to engage and discuss your ideas with our network of clinicians and academic experts in engineering, nanotechnology and biosensing.

This event is open to clinicians, patients, academics, scientists and industry partners looking to work together to advance patient care by accelerating new science and technologies in colorectal disease.

High-profile speakers include:

Dr. Larry Nagahara - Director of the Office of Physical Sciences-Oncology Centre in the Centre for Strategic Scientific Initiatives, National Cancer Institute.

Prof. Robert Austin - Professor of Physics, Princeton University.

Dr. Robert Gatenby - Chairman of the Department of Radiology at H. Lee Moffitt Cancer Center and Co-Director of the Cancer Biology and Evolution Program.

Dr. Samuel Achilefu - Professor of Radiology, Biochemistry & Molecular Biophysics, and Biomedical Engineering, Washington University.

Dr. David Noonan - Senior Member of Research Staff, Phillips Research North America.

Mr. Michael Seres - Patient entrepreneur and creator of the Ostom-I Alert stoma device, founder of 11 Health.
