

Strategies in Emergency General Surgery

22-23 November 2012

RCS London

Patients with urgent and emergent surgical conditions compose an ever-increasing proportion of the general surgeon's workload. Managing such time critical patients requires timely, evidence-based decisions - often beyond the comfort zone of routine elective practice. This exciting new course is aimed at senior trainees and new consultants in general surgery wishing to update their knowledge of the best available evidence and refine their decision-making.

Course Directors

Jan Jansen

Consultant in General Surgery
& Intensive Care Medicine
Aberdeen Royal Infirmary

Course content

- Management of gastrointestinal bleeding
- Emergency presentations of oesophageal and gastric disorders
- Lower gastrointestinal tract emergencies
- Midgut emergencies
- Emergency presentations of biliary and pancreatic disorders
- Herniae and other abdominal wall emergencies

Who should attend?

ST 5-8 and Consultants

Fee

£695

Learning outcomes

By the end of the course, delegates will be able to make informed and evidence-based decisions on the management of a variety of complex general surgical emergency presentations.

Additional information

The Strategies in Emergency General Surgery course will be a good follow-on from the College's Specialty Skills in Emergency Surgery and Trauma course (aimed at more junior trainees), and will sit alongside Definitive Surgical Trauma Skills (also aimed at senior trainees and consultants).