

The VII Colorectal Symposium

The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow announces its VII Colorectal Symposium which is being held on 14th March 2014 in conjunction with the Scottish Chapter of the Association of Coloproctology of Great Britain and Ireland.

As before, a number of controversial lectures will be given by a Faculty, well recognised for their willingness to state an opinion.

We are especially pleased to announce that the Incorporation of Barbers lecture will be given by Professor Fergus Shanahan on the subject Living with the Enemy: the role of enteric bacteria in health and disease.

We extend a warm welcome to consultant surgeons with an interest in colorectal disease, surgical trainees, nurse specialists and PAMS. An invitation is also extended to the Glasgow University Students Surgical Society. This promises to be a thought-provoking day and delegates are encouraged to reserve a place early.

Advance bookings at exclusive rates are now being taken from Fellows and Members.
